READY OR NOT BUSINESS SIMULATION EXPERIENCE

BUILD BETTER BUSINESS LEADERS

MOST EFFECTIVE FOR MANAGER
LEVELS OR HIGHER

This experience is most effective for department manager levels and higher in your organization.

Ready or Not is an immersive business simulation that helps manufacturing teams understand how every decision affects the entire organization. Participants experience firsthand how operations, finance, sales, supply chain, HR, marketing, and leadership work together to drive business success.

Unlike traditional classroom training, teams compete by running simulated manufacturing companies, making real-time business decisions and immediately seeing the financial and operational consequences.

READY OR NOT HELPS DEVELOP

Business Acumen

Helps employees understand how operational decisions impact profitability, cash flow, and company performance.

Leadership Development

Prepare emerging leaders by giving them experience making strategic decisions in a risk free environment.

Cross-Functional Collaboration

Break down departmental silos and build appreciation for how every function contributes to success

Strategic Decision Making

Practice balancing growth, investment, staffing, quality, and capacity under changing business conditions.

Systems Thinking

Develop an understanding of how decisions in one area ripple throughout the entire organization.

Team Communication

Strengthen collaboration while competing in an engaging, fast-paced simulation.

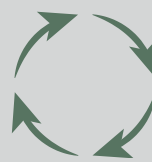

HOW IT WORKS

Learn

Participants receive the fundamentals of the business simulation and their assigned executive role.

Apply

Facilitated discussions connect simulation lessons directly to your organization's real-world challenges.

Evaluate

Financial results, operational performance, and competitive outcomes are reviewed after every round.

Compete

Teams manage a manufacturing company through multiple business cycles while making strategic decisions.
